Apprentice Membership

Apprentice Membership is open to any individual who is at least 18 years of age who aspires to create one of a kind art dolls, and is seeking guidance and support within the association, to be mentored toward artist membership. They shall pay dues but do not exhibit at CDAA events, use the logo, vote or hold office. They shall become artist members by completing an original, one of a kind art doll.

Artist Membership

Artist Membership is open to any individual who is at least 18 years of age who creates one of a kind art dolls. The dolls being created by the artist and shown within the events and competitions of the association must be original works or art and must not, therefore, be an adaptation of the work of another artist, nor may they include a part or component that has been created by another artist. Those components would include but not be limited to: sculpted faces pressed from the mould of another artist, patterns created by another artist. Artist Members are authorized to use the CDAA logo symbol in conjunction with their name.

Master Membership

Master Membership is open to any individual who meets artist membership requirements and is entitled to all of the benefits outlined in Artist Membership, but who is considered at Master Status by having won any of the following awards, three times or more, in the previous 5 years: First Place Award, Best in Show, or People's Choice award. A Master Member must declare this status if these wins were achieved from within competitions or events of the Canadian Doll Artists Association or from another recognised doll organization (such as NIADA or ODACA).

Patron Membership

Patron Membership is open to those who support the goals of the CDAA. They shall pay dues but do not exhibit, use the logo, vote or hold office.

Privacy Policy - Canadian Doll Artists Association

Date of issue: April 2006 CDAA is committed to protecting the privacy of the personal information of its members, and other stakeholders. CDAA values the trust of all those with whom we interact. We recognize that maintaining this trust requires that we be transparent and accountable in how we treat the information that you choose to share with us. During the course of our various projects and activities, CDAA frequently gathers and uses personal information. Anyone from whom we collect such information should expect that it will be carefully protected and that any use of or other dealing with this information other than the purpose for which it was collected is subject to consent. CDAA's privacy practices are designed to achieve this. The information provided to us is used: to help us in fulfilling our mission, including our events and member services, to process membership, to respond to information requests by fellow members, and to communicate future events or promotions.

Defining Personal Information

Personal Information is any information that can be used to distinguish, identify or contact a specific individual. This information may include an individual's opinions or beliefs, as well as facts about, or related to, the individual. Exceptions: business contact information and certain publicly available information, such as names, addresses and telephone numbers as published in telephone directories, are not considered personal information. Where an individual uses his or her home contact information as business contact information as well, CDAA considers that the contact information provided is business contact information, and is not therefore subject to protection as personal information.

Privacy Practices

Personal information gathered by CDAA is kept in confidence. CDAA agents, executive and directors are authorized to access personal information based only on their need to deal with the information for the reason(s) for which it was obtained. Safeguards are in place to ensure that the information is not disclosed or shared more widely than is necessary to achieve the purpose for which it was gathered. We also take measures to ensure the integrity of this information is maintained and to prevent its being lost or destroyed. The information is kept up to date and accurate. Information that is no longer relevant will be disposed of appropriately. Under no circumstances does CDAA sell, barter or lease its member or donor lists to other organizations. We collect, use and disclose personal information only for purposes that a reasonable person would consider appropriate in light of the circumstances.

Web Site and Electronic Commerce

CDAA does not store personal information on the Web site that is collected through the site. Information is automatically sent to the appropriate volunteer within the CDAA organization.

Updating of Privacy Policy

CDAA reviews its privacy practices regularly and constantly revises the policy.

Contact Information

Questions, concerns or complaints relating to CDAA privacy policy and practices on the treatment of personal information should be forwarded to the CDAA's Vice President in writing at their address as listed on the website. Further information on privacy and your rights in regard to your personal information may be found on the Web site of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada at www.privcom.gc.ca.

Each CDAA member may show their dolls on the CDAA website for $15 per year. To have your work shown on the CDAA website complete the Members Gallery Form.
